

AN AMAZING NEW RESTORATION PRODUCT FOR CONVENTIONAL VC FLOORING

SHRED

Vinyl composite flooring in commercial areas can provide a beautiful first impression to your customers.

But what if your floors were not maintained properly? There have been cases where commercial floors have had upwards of 30 to 50 layers of finish on them when, during maintenance, older layers were not removed before applying new ones. The older layers discolour as they age, turning your first impression into a nightmare.

Excessive finish layers are labour intensive to remove with standard stripper, making it seem like replacing the flooring is your only alternative, but there is another solution. We have a new restorative product that will help you bring your floor back to its original glory: Shred, designed for VC flooring.

WHAT IS DIFFERENT ABOUT RESTORATIVE LEVEL STRIPPING?

Conventional stripper is normally a water-thin product that is spread onto a floor and allowed to sit for a few minutes. This works fine when you have 4 to 6 layers of floor finish, but when you have 30 or more, 10 minutes just won't cut it! Worse yet, if conventional stripper accidentally dries on the floor, your floor finish will be even harder to remove.

Shred has a gel consistency that resists drying out, allowing it to remain active for hours at a time. Just lay the product down, and walk away. When done, the layers of finish are easily scrapped away, leaving you with your original flooring. Apply new floor finish, and voila, you have a revived floor at a fraction of the price of replacing.
